

For Terry Haines/A. Schulman:

- Briefly describe your company's support for the university, when it began and the creation of the Schulman Chair.
- Give me some of the details about how your company has supported the university's work in the field of polymer science.
- Tell me about the reputation the university has in the field of polymer science.
- How has your company's support of the university benefited students?
- How has your company's support of the university advanced polymer science?
- Is there any particular discovery that you feel can be attributed to your company's support of the polymer science program?
- Describe your view of how business and the university and can work together in developing new technology.
- How has your company's support of the university benefited your company?
- How would students, the program or the university be worse off without the support of your company and other area companies?
- What benefit or satisfaction do you personally realize by supporting the university?
- Do you have any emotional response when you visit the campus and see what your support has helped create?
- What advice would you give to someone who was considering adding their financial support to the university?
- Anything else you'd want to say to people who are considering adding their financial support to the university?

For Frank Kelley:

- Briefly describe the scope of the university's polymer science program.
- Briefly describe the reputation of the university's polymer science program.
- Briefly describe how Terry Haines and A. Schulman have supported the polymer science program.
- How is the polymer science program better as a result of their support?
- How do students benefit from their support?
- How would students, the program or the university be worse off without the support of A. Schulman?
- Is there any particular discovery that you feel can be attributed to A. Schulman's support of the polymer science program?
- Describe your view of how businesses and the university and can work together in developing new technology.
- What technology do you think might be possible with continued support from companies like A. Schulman?
- Do you have any emotional response when you walk across the campus?
- What advice would you give to someone who was considering adding their financial support to the university?
- Anything else you'd want to say to people who are considering adding their financial support to the university?

For George Daverio/Folk Foundation:

- Your family has a long history of supporting the university. Give me a brief overview your first involvement with the university, and how that support has continued through other family members over the years.
- Briefly describe your choice to specifically support the arts at the university, and why you've continued that support for so long.
- [If mentioned] Support for the School of Accountancy.
- Tell me about one aspect of the arts supported by your foundation that makes you particularly proud.
- Why is it important to have a strong focus on the arts?
- How do students at the university benefit from the financial support provided by donors like you?
- What could be possible if more people supported the arts through the University of Akron?
- How would the university and the community be worse off without funding like yours for the arts?
- What personal benefit or satisfaction do you realize by supporting the university?
- Do you have any emotional response when you visit the campus and see what your support has helped create?
- What advice would you give to someone who was considering adding their financial support to the university?
- Anything else you'd want to say to people who are considering adding their financial support to the university?

For Beatrice McDowell:

- [See new list]
- Do you have any emotional response when you visit the campus and see what your support has helped create?
- Anything else you'd want to say to people who are considering adding their financial support to the university.

For Professor Huhn – Endowed Chair:

- Briefly tell me about the work that's been made possible through the support of Mrs. McDowell.
- How would you describe the benefit to the university or the community from her support?
- How would students, the campus or community be worse off without the financial support of donors?
- What would you like to say to people like Mrs. McDowell who provide financial support to the university?
- Anything else you'd want to say to people who are considering adding their financial support to the university.

For Muehlstein Foundation scholarship recipient:

- Tell me about your scholarship.
- Tell me about your course of study, and professional goals after graduation
- Tell me how the foundation has benefited you personally.
- How would your life, or the lives of other students, be different without the support of people who fund scholarships like yours?
- Anything else you'd want to say to people who are considering adding their financial support to the university?

For Dean Stroble - College of Education:

- Tell me about the history of giving by the Muehlstein Foundation, and how someone from New York came to be a longstanding university supporter.
(May need to prompt them with details regarding the first, physical donation of rare books to continuing financial support.)
- Describe the Academy for Mathematics and Science, and its value to the university and the community.
- Tell me about how the Academy's work will eventually benefit local business and industry.
(In our meeting, it was mentioned that we want to include the "linkage with industry" but that Dean Stroble would require coaching on this subject.)
- What advice would you give to someone who was considering adding their financial support to the university?
- Anything else you'd want to say to people who are considering adding their financial support to the university.

For CBA scholarship recipient/Weed

- Tell me about Mr. Weed and the Scholarship for Business Excellence that he funds.
(We will probably have to prep our student with the details)
- Tell me about your scholarship.
- Tell me about your course of study, and professional goals after graduation.
- Tell me how you've benefited from your scholarship.
- Has this scholarship changed your opportunities?
- How would your life, or the lives of other students, be different without the availability of scholarships?
- What would you like to say to the people who fund the foundation that supports your scholarship?